ONLY EXPERTS CAN BE USED

Librarian Spofford Talks About Appointments to Be Made.

Of Three Thousand Applicants Only 50 Per Cent Can Be Considered.

A little learning leads some men into gravest trouble; others, it makes wise in their own conceit.

Thousands of people believe themselves fully qualified to assist Librarian Spofford in the management of the Congressional Library, yet of that number, 90 per cent never studied indexing, cataloging or classifying. Seventy-five per cent read no other than the English language, and that not very perfectly. Each has a system of his own for the indexing of publications, and are some who would venture to give the experts pointers.

The great mistake made by the applicants for appointment in the Congressional Library is, that they lose sight of the fact that these positions require expert knowledge. It is amazing to see how large is the number of applicants whose only recommendation is that they have read a great deal, or that they love books.

"I have quit counting the number of applicants," said Mr. Spofford yesterday to a Times reporter. "Every day adds another batch to the pile which has run from the hundreds into the thousands."

"Of say 3,000, Mr. Spofford, how many come to you having any weight, whatever?" asked the reporter.

"I should say not over 50 per cent," he responded. "Of that number I have to select only thirty or forty for the catalogue work, classification, and the service of books and information to Congress and the public. This number will be in addition to the present force. In the copyright department there are to be employed but six additional clerks, each one of whom must be specially fitted for the service. I shall employ only those known to possess the necessary qualifications for work in the library," said Mr. Spofford.

"There is one thing you might say, and that is, that every appointment will be probationary. It will take but a short while to determine the value of the man employed. We must have clerks and attendants ready to go ahead with their duties. We cannot undertake to teach them how to perform their work."

It is an erroneous idea that the librarian has the appointment of all the employees of the new library. All persons to be engaged in the care and custody of the building come under the control of the superintendent of the building, and will be appointed by him.

The preliminary work of removing the books has already begun. Up to this time, 110,000 volumes have been removed. These publications are not for reference, however, but are known as copyright material, to be stored.

The real work of conveying the books from the Capitol to the new library building will not commence until Congress adjourns. Otherwise there would be serious interference with the use of the library by members of Congress, as it must be closed absolutely during the morning period.

It is hard to determine just exactly how long the library will be closed to the public, but an idea can be gathered from the statistics of the Boston Public Library.

which is about two-thirds the size of the library at the University of the Pacific. The Boston Library was closed for seven weeks, and it took a year longer for the books to be placed under proper classification. This is an enormous work when it is remembered that the Congressional Library contains between 600,000 and 700,000 volumes. Last year, over 72,000 new publications were received, showing a monthly average of 6,000 publications to be received and copyrighted.

YANPIC IN GREAT DEMAND.

May Cruise Through St. Lawrence River and Welland Canal.

What to do with the old Yanpic is the question with which the Navy Department is presently wrestling. She is wanted by Michigan, Maryland and Connecticut for a naval reserve ship, and the Ordnance Bureau wants her for a temporary powder magazine for New York harbor. Which of these requests Secretary Long will grant is at present unknown, even to himself, but he is more than favorably inclined to turn over the vessel to the Michigan reserves. In this desire he is supported by Assistant Secretary Roosevelt.

The difficulty attached to this proposition is how to get the Yanpic to Detroit. If she goes there it must be by sailing to the Welland Canal and by the canal to the lakes. It is said that the canal cannot take vessels with a draught greater than eleven feet, and that when lighted by the canal, the Yanpic will draw fifteen feet. This should prove to be true Michigan cannot have her.

The Yanpic is now at Hampton Roads, but will soon go to Boston, where she will be surveyed, and it is found that she can pass through the canal, she will probably go to Michigan.

The Short Story Club.

The Short Story Club at its last business meeting, Wednesday evening, the 2d instant, adopted a new constitution and elected officers. A resolution was introduced by Major Willis to secure equal opportunities for members to participate in literary work, and a vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Burket and the other retiring officers. Miss M. S. Buddison, the recording secretary, reviewed the work of the club, and brief speeches were made. Eight new members were elected, and the following chosen to preside over the affairs of the club for the ensuing year: President, Prof. Hyland O. Kirk; vice president, Miss Gertrude Withington; recording secretary, Mrs. Charles Metcalf; corresponding secretary, Mr. S. H. Agnew; treasurer, Mrs. M. L. Willis; chairman of committees appointed. On credentials, Major F. L. Willis; on program, Mrs. Jean Lockwood; on reception, Mrs. F. R. Burket.

Would Like Easy Positions.

Applications for appointment to positions in the Treasury Department were filed with Secretary Gage yesterday as follows: O. C. Robyshell, Philadelphia, Pa., to be superintendent of the mint at Philadelphia, Pa.; William T. Jones, Vicksburg, Miss., to be collector of internal revenue at Denver, Colo.; E. C. H. Herold, Newark, N. J., to be collector of internal revenue at Newark, N. J.; Benjamin Oppenheimer, New York, N. Y., to be collector of internal revenue for New York, N. Y.; W. W. Sims, Sioux City, Iowa, to be collector of internal revenue at Santa Fe, N. Mex.

CUBANS TO BUY CUBA FREE

An Iniquitous Scheme Being Engineered by a Ring.

MILLIONS TO BE MADE BY IT

Spain to Be Forced to the Verge of War, Which Would Depreciate Cuban Bonds—Purchase Then to Be Made, the United States Guaranteeing the Debt.

"I have not very much money at the present time, but if the Administration's plan for the settlement of the war in Cuba goes through, I shall clear a cool quarter of a million dollars."

Thus spoke a well-known Republican politician at Chamberlin's last night, and the speaker is a man generally credited with being on the inside, so far as this Administration is concerned.

The discussion of the sugar schedule and the anxiety of the Republican managers to get that part of the tariff bill through, coupled with the absence of the President from the city, has caused a dearth of Cuban news and a flagging in the interest in the subject. But the iniquitous scheme detailed some weeks ago in The Times is being worked out, and as soon as Congress is out of the way, Cuba will be forced to the front in the manner agreed upon by the Administration.

The war in Cuba is to end by the Cubans throwing off the yoke of Spanish cruelty and control and putting upon their backs the halter of the American bond syndicate. Cuba must purchase her freedom or remain the vassal of Spain. No choice will be left her, however. The greed of the New Yorkers who are behind the scheme, who were behind the last Administration, will force her to buy the island, and hypocritically to Wall Street. The Cubans are to be bled, relentlessly and copiously.

In a nutshell, the scheme concerted several weeks ago and now working out to its completion includes, first, Cuban submission to Spanish authority; second, Spanish recognition of Cuban independence; third, Cuban assumption of $300,000,000 of Spanish bonds, and fourth, the guarantee of the United States of this Cuban debt, and a United States protectorate over the island.

The preliminaries to this combination have begun. It consists in an organized effort to batter down the value of Spanish bonds issued on account of the Cuban debt. These are to be pounded down as far as possible, and at the right time the Administration is to begin a campaign of bluster and begin to bully and threaten Spain. She is to be brought to the verge of war—war itself, if that be necessary. A controversy of so serious character with a power like the United States is counted upon as reason sufficient to depress the price of Spanish bonds, which will be seized under options and locked up.

Those on the inside of this giant deal expect to get hold of these securities for 10 or 20 cents on the dollar, possibly less for a war with the United States would send Spanish securities of all kinds tumbling to the bottom of the pit. But Cuba is here to pull these chinksters out of the fire. The Administration will dictate the terms and Cuba and Spain must obey. The scheme is to be founded upon a patriotic appeal to the country to free Cuba and, at the same time, to "deal fairly" with Spain by compensating her for the loss of the island. Then comes the steal and the divide among the men in this intrigue, and the final Cuba is to be plundered and the credit of the United States pledged to guarantee to those financial brigands the enormous profits that would flow into their coffers. Instead of the exchequer of the new island Republic, this syndicate could afford to promise liberal shares in this plundering scheme at any stage.

The only security there is against its success is the refusal of the President to yield to the demands of the men who controlled great sums of money toward his election, and to the pride of the Spanish government, which the reckless courage of the nob in the streets of Madrid would not allow to abate.

It is not believed for a moment that the President would lend himself to this scheme, but that the matter is being put to him in a different light, and unless his attention is called to the designs of the men now about for "patriotic interference," as a cloak for their nefarious designs, the Administration may innocently be committed to a policy that can only end in an international scandal.

The Administration has some policy with respect to this Cuban question, but what it is the Administration men in both Houses have declined to intimate. The charge that it contemplates the purchase of Cuba by the Cubans has never been denied. The plan was made during the fruitless efforts to call up the belligerent resolutions in the House that Congress ought to wait until the President learned the facts through his own representative. It was stated that Judge Calhoun could learn no more than the President then knew. His stay on the island—always within the Spanish lines—shows the impossibility of his reaching the real situation. His report is valueless, and even the report of Consul General Lee conveys little additional to that which the State Department and the Committee on Foreign Relations already knew and which the press of the country had previously exploited.

It is apparent now that the object in sending Judge Calhoun to Cuba was simply to gain time to a postpone action so that Congress might get through and be away when the Administration saw fit to spring its policy. This is one of the reasons the tariff bill is being rushed through the Senate with such tremendous and unprecedented haste.

A study of the condition of affairs in Cuba, and the utter neglect of her colony by Spain only make the enormity of the proposition to compel Cuba to gain her freedom by purchase more prominent. Every conceivable indebtedness that could be charged against Cuba by the home government has been set down against her, until, on the 31st of July, 1896, Cuba was reckoned to owe $295,707,264. Going back into earlier years, the arduous work of Spain is then seen yawning with her greed for Cuban coin. The budget for the fiscal year 1878 and 1879 amounted to $46,500,000, and at no time up to 1886 did it go below $35,000,000. From that period to the present time the annual budget has been about $26,000,000.

The gradual reduction was not due to a desire to relieve the island from the burdens of taxation, but was the result of necessity. Cuba was not able to meet such enormous exactions. It was a continuous drain on the island's resources. In the first of the above-named years the deficit was $8,000,000 short of appropriations; in the second year the deficit reached $20,000,000, and so on, until the present time the accumulated amount of all these deficits reaches $100,000,000. As a consequence of such a reckless and senseless financial course, the debt of Cuba has been increased to a fabulous sum. In 1888 she owed $25,000,000. When the present war broke out the net sum was $100,000,000. The grand total of the indebtedness is $295,707,264. Considering its population the debt of Cuba exceeds that of all the other American countries, including the United States. The interest on this debt imposes a burden of $9,790,000 each inhabitant. The French people, the most overburdened people in this respect, owe only $6.30 to each inhabitant.

In this enormous debt are included the Spanish debt to the United States; the expenses incurred by Spain when she occupied Santo Domingo; those for the invasion of Mexico in alliance with France and England; the expenditures for her hostilities against Peru; the money advanced to the Spanish treasury during its recent Carlist wars; and all that Spain has spent to uphold its domination in Cuba, and to cover the lavish expenditures of the Administration since 1868. Not a single cent of this vast sum has been spent in Cuba to advance the work of civilization and improvement. It has not contributed to build a single mile of highway or railroad; nor to erect a single bathhouse or to deepen a single port; it has not built one asylum or opened one single school. This heavy burden has been left by Spain to future generations without a single compensation or benefit. And the American scheme— heaven save the name—is to compel Cuba to guarantee
